SHUZZER IN HIS STATEMENT

Ousted Executive Breaks Long Silence and Bares Facts to World; Progressives Offer Him Nomination for Congress

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 17. William Sulzer ceased to be governor of the state of New York at noon today. He was removed from office by the high court of impeachment by a vote of 43 to 12, two members not voting.

The verdict of the court was that Salzer was guilty of falsification, perjury and an attempt to suppress evidence against him. Of all other charges he was acquitted, the court today unanimously voting him not guilty of the four remaining articles of impeachment.

By a virtually unanimous vote also, the impeachment tribunal decided that Salzer should not be punished by disqualification to hold office of honor and trust in this state in the future. This would have been the extreme penalty under the law.

asking him to accept the nomination of the Progressive Party for Governor in the Twentieth district, to take the place of Oscar S. Stephens, who accordingly declined the nomination according to announcement by Frank M. Thelen, Jr., a member of the Progressive party committee on vacancies in the district. The committee will meet tomorrow night, tomorrow being the last day given it under the law to fill the vacancy.

Ouster Writ Served on Him.

The ousted executive was served with a copy of the verdict of the court as the executive mansion—christened by himself "the people's house"—a few minutes before 6 o'clock tonight.

Mr. Sulzer, private citizen, will leave the capital probably on Sunday—for where he has not disclosed.

The outgoing executive issued a statement in which he denounced the tribunal which had removed him as "Murphy's high court of infamy."

At today's session of the court, most of the members recorded their votes without explanation.

Sulzer, a victim of corrupt bosses, October 17, 1913, is the latest "Al" or "Silver" loving pup which a committee of local citizens planned tonight to present to Governor Sulzer. It is announced that Sulzer's admirers would gather tomorrow night, and, preceded by a band, parade to the "people's house" to make the presentation.

Centered in the Sulzer's history while he was governor and tonight Mr. Sulzer will deliver speeches in this state wherever campaigns are being waged for direct primaries and against political bosses, and that Mr. Sulzer had received requests from lecture bureaus to tell his story.

tonlight when Thomas C. Nolan, secretary-in-charge of the senate, and George M. Ward, program giver, arrived at the executive mansion bearing the court's Order of Removal.

They were admitted immediately and escorted upstairs to the study.

Bulwer and Chester C. Platt, his secretary, were seated at a table. Nolan handed the document to Bulwer. It was written on a piece of ordinary foolscap paper. Patrick E. McCabe, clerk of the senate and one of Bulwer's closest associates, was also

If he is the nervous wreck that some have reported him to be, he did not show it. He was pale, but smiling and calm. "I am glad to see you," he said to everyone he was "glad to see him." Someone one started to ask a question.

"In response to requests from friends throughout the state for some expression from me, I can only say at this time that I am glad that my trial is over."

By virtue of a power beyond the present control of our electorate, I now

"I have nothing more to say than my statement continues," he said. "My wife are you going away?" he was asked.

"I cannot tell that, nor where I am going," he replied. "But I am going to get out of Albany as quickly as I can."

Hand back to the people the commiseration they give me, and I hand it back to their untarnished and unquelled will. My lips have been sealed for weeks, while I patiently have submitted in silence to abuse and vilification.

However, after stating my case to my friends, and by their advice, on August 11, I made the following statement:

Governor Sulzer then quoted a statement in which he denied that he had sent campaign contributions for his personal ends, that he speculated Wall street of that he had an account with Sulzer & Gray or Boyer & Griswold. He said he knew nothing about the transactions with these firms, testified to before the Bradley committee. This attention was brought to

The statement asserted that the Harbo and Fuller account was not a special letter but a loan account made on stocks paid for years before his nomination. The statement said certain checks given him in the campaign had been deposited in his personal account.

Claim Remuneration Is Inadequate; Burleson Hears Complaints

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12. Postmaster General Barlow had a conference today with a delegation of American Railway president seeking better pay for transporting mail.

President Taylor of the Santa Fe acted as spokesman for his associates.

Mr. Harrison said that they would try to get the railroad men who were being underpaid an average of $1,000 a year for carrying the mails, entirely aside from the extraordinary burden placed upon the route by the parcel post traffic.

Q Now all they were entitled to that was to be proposed to the witness for the charge of the crime. Is that correct?

A Yes, that is correct. The witnesses were entitled to express for the purpose of not collecting and tabulating data near the open the subject had made in the report probably on March 4, next. He reported that he was astounded that the

VICTIM OF "BOSS" MURPHY

Interfered personally in the outcome of my trial, or had acted as my prosecutor and condemned me before my trial, or because of personal grievances had expressed an opinion as to my guilt.

"The casting of votes by these senators vitiated the judgment, because had they refused to vote as a mass of decency should have induced them to do so. I would not have been convicted of one of the articles of impeachment."

"My trial, from beginning to end--so far as the Tammanyland part was concerned--was a farce, a political lynch--the consummation of a deep-laid political conspiracy to oust me from office."

"The court failed to hear me in everything. The well settled rules of evidence were thrown to the winds. A hour's trial in front of a jury would have received a warmer deal."

Murphy in Control.

"Mr. Murphy controlled the assembly and ordered the impeachment. He controlled most of the members of the court and dictated its procedure and wrote the judgment. He was the judge and the jury, the prosecutor and the bailiff."

"The meetings of the court were held in closed doors. It was a star chamber proceeding where the enemies of the state could work for my conviction undisturbed."

"They called it the high court of impeachment, but history will call it 'Murphy's high court of infamy.' The trial was a human shambles, a libel on law, a flagrant abuse of constitutional rights, a disgrace to our civilization, and the verdict overturned the safeguards of liberty and the precedents of three centuries. The future historians will do me justice and posterity will reverse the findings of the court."

"There is a higher court than Murphy's, the court of public opinion. I appeal from Murphy's court of politics to the court of public opinion."

Only Temporary Victory.

"When I declined to obey the orders of the 'boss' about patronage, when I refused to call off Hennessy and prevent further investigations of graft and finally when I set in motion the machinery of the courts to bring the criminals to justice and to stop the looting of the state, then and not until then, did Mr. Murphy threaten me with degradation and removal from office. Since that day all that money, power and influence could do to destroy me, had been done."

"Mr. Murphy and the special interest, which I antagonized have won a temporary victory, but the fight for reform and for honest government will go on. The forces of my trial will have a good effect in the end. It has opened the eyes of the people to the graft of millions of dollars annually and it will hasten the adoption of the initiative and referendum, bring about the recall of public officials, including judges and judicial decisions, and write upon the statute books other reforms, especially a direct primary law, so that the voters, instead of the bosses, will nominate as well as elect all of the public officials."

"The people now know that the power to nominate public officials is the power to control those offices, and that we cannot have honesty in the state of New York until the voters nominate and control all public officials."

"Faithful to Trust."

"As the governor I have been honest and faithful to my trust. No influence but my conscience could control me in the performance of my duty. I have lost my office but I have kept my self-respect."

"Let us realize the hope that my loss of the governorship will be the people's gain. If my undoing shall be the humble means of destroying 'bossism' in New York, I shall be content."

"When the court determined to exclude the evidence of Mr. Hennessy cal passion, to the calmer judgment of the future and the after reflection of public opinion.

and thus prevented my establishing facts which would directly testify to the honesty of Mr. Peck and show his motive for telling an untruth, and also disclose corruption in the various departments of the state government and which were largely the inducing cause. In bringing about my impeachment, I became satisfied that it was useless to present myself as a witness because I would not be permitted to tell the facts which I considered my best and most efficient means of clearing my name in court.

"I wanted to take the witness stand in my own behalf to testify to the story of my treatment with the 'boss' and to deny the lack of fabrication, the absurd story of Allen Ryan and to explain the Morganthau testimony. But I was prevented from doing so by those who were in the real welfare of the state and because under the rules of the court regarding testimony of Hennessy and other witnesses in my behalf, it was apparent that my story of the 18th of Murphy ordered my impeachment also would be ruled out as incompetent and inadmissible. I was further advised that as no evidence against me had been adduced of 'VILFUT, AND CORRUPT MISCONDUCT IN OFFICE' that therefore I had committed no impeachable offense as the governor of the state; and hence could not, on the evidence before the court, legally or justly be removed from office."

Says Peck Lied to Save Job.

Those familiar with the facts (as testified that Peck lied about me) to save his job, that Morganthau was fooled by the clever ruse of the unscrupulous enemy, and that Ryan was in Albany several days under the tutelage of astute counsel to aid the prosecution at the psychological moment in any way desired.

Suffice it to say that Allen Ryan came to see me. I did not go to see him and I never asked him or any other man to request Senator Root or Delancey Niemi to see Mr. Baffee, or Mr. Murphy or anyone else, for that matter, to do so for me regarding the trial. These matters were afterthoughts of the prosecution to injure my cause.

Every dollar given me, which I deposited to my personal account, subsequently was turned over by me to the committee in my office or to an agent of Mr. Murphy or to the state committee.

It is now apparent that the stories put in circulation regarding money given me when I was a candidate for governor were grossly exaggerated and only printed to prejudice my case before the people.

Tells of Financial Condition.

I want to tell the people the truth about my financial condition. Before I was a candidate for the governorship I was in debt about $70,000 and had more assets than I have at present.

I own now, as follows:

1. M. J. J. $27,000
2. M. J. J. $25,000
3. M. J. J. $10,000
4. M. J. J. $5,000
5. M. J. J. $1,000

Smaller creditors about $1,000. Making a total of $78,000 besides the cost of my trial.

I own no other assets save an equity in stock in two small mining camps. This stock has no market value.

I had on deposit before my nomination over $11,000. I have on deposit now not much more, and that is all the money I possess. I am poorer today than I was before the fight for the governorship began last fall.

Had I wanted to make money out of my campaign I certainly would not have accepted as I did, offers of no money from any of the citizens of the ward of $100,000 borrowed the money from the M. J. J. and many others.

The court ruled out all testimony concerning these large sums of money offered to me by Judge Hennessy and others and which I declined for good and sufficient reasons.

Willing for People to Judge.

I have fought a good fight against the bossism of the Tammanyland government and I am proud of it. I have done it for the people and I did it in the

MRS. EATON'S MOTHER

IMPORTANT WITNESS

Admiral Admitted to Drink, She Says, but Didn't Know About Drugs

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 17.—Mrs. Virginia Harrison of Alexandria, Va., a member of a prominent family of that state, was called by the prosecution today to testify about conditions in the home of her daughter, Jennie May Eaton, who is being tried on the charge of murdering her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, U. S. N., retired, by giving him poison.

Mrs. Harrison said that her daughter manifested "hysterical tendencies" towards the admiral at times. In the past four years, the witness has spent much of her time at her daughter's home in Alexandria, and she testified that she considered her son-in-law "always very much of a gentleman."

Her daughter, she said, seemed actually to believe that the admiral dabbled in drugs and was insane. Mrs. Harrison could see no signs of those things. She had seen the admiral intoxicated, she testified, but she never detected any signs of a drug habit. She first noticed the admiral's fatal illness on March 6, she said, before he had touched the roast pork which Mrs. Eaton claims was the cause of that attack.

It was the first time she had seen her daughter since Mrs. Eaton left home on March 20 to attend the inquest at Hingham, where she was arrested on the charge of murder. Often, as she answered the questions of the trial attorney, tears rolled down her cheeks. Whenever she seemed on the verge of breaking down, Mrs. Eaton would lay forward and make excuses.

Mrs. Harrison took the stand after her 16-year-old granddaughter, Dorothy, had finished six hours of testimony. She corroborated much of what Dorothy had said about friction in the household.

Attorneys for the defense said they might call Mrs. Harrison again.

face of threats of exposure and personal destruction.

"I am frank to say that I now realize I should have been more careful in some of the things I said, but I was so busy in the campaign that I gave no heed to details and trusted others, some of whom have proved treacherous. But so far as my administration of the governorship is concerned, I have no regrets, as my conscience tells me truly that I have done no wrong, but my whole duty, fearlessly and honestly—to all the people of the state."

At some future and more opportune time, I promise to make a further statement, and I am inclined to the conclusion that I am rather expert in my views on the platform, where I can look into the eyes of the people and they can look into mine and judge for themselves whether I am telling the truth."

Washington today that in the conference of diplomats called by the Spanish minister at Mexico City Wednesday, practically all those present, except British and American representatives, recommended armed intervention. State department officials, however, said no such report had reached them.

Situation Still Unchanged.

The situation seemed unchanged tonight with respect to further diplomatic parleys by the Washington government, which is disposed to treat no further with the Huerta regime though admittedly in a receptive mood for suggestions or declarations of purposes on the part of the constitutionalist chiefs.

Constitutional representatives here are maintaining silence with respect to such negotiations. The only development to which they called attention was the appointment of General Felipe Angeles as minister of war to Governor Carranza. They said Angeles was commissioned a major general in the federal army before Huerta was overthrown, that he remained in Mexico City until a month ago and at the first opportunity sailed for Europe and came to the United States at once arriving in Nogales, Sonora, today to join Carranza. News of his active participation in the constitutional movement, its local representative said, caused a sensation in the army circles in Mexico City.

United States Should Act.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 17.—That the United States must act to put an end to the impossible conditions constituting a daily menace to the lives of the nationals was the opinion expressed by several of the diplomatic representatives who assembled for an informal conference in the German legation here Wednesday. Among those who attended were the ministers of Great Britain, France, Germany, Spain, Austria and Norway.

No definite plan of action was agreed upon but the situation was discussed at length. None of those present would discuss for publication what took place but it became known today that intervention by the United States will be regarded by a majority of the diplomats as the only solution for the situation.

Sen. Cologan, a Cologan, the Spanish minister, is said to have urged as the stake of the Spaniards who had been killed or injured in Mexico during the revolution.

It is said that he said that he would put the blame for Mexico's present situation upon the Washington government.

He said that he had been in the United States for some time and that he had seen the situation in the window of intervention.

Denver Health Authorities Protest Against Use of Communion

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Appointment resignations and transfers of prelates were considered by the house of bishops, the higher governing body of the Protestant Episcopal church, at the triennial general convention today. Bishop Edward William Osborn, of the diocese of Springfield, Ill., resigned because of age and infirmity. Bishop Joseph M. Flandia, of the diocese of Indianapolis, asked to be transferred to a climate more favorable to his family, and probably will be assigned either to the vacant see in Cuba, or the missionary district of Porto Rico. Bishop Cameron Mann was transferred from the missionary district of South Dakota to the Missionary district of Florida.

Vacancies in one diocese and five missionary districts, caused by deaths or resignations, are to be filled at an election on Monday. The election will be held at an executive meeting of the house of bishops, after which the house of deputies will be called upon to confirm the nominees. Only the names of successful candidates will be announced.

The house of bishops took into full communion with the church today the island of Hayti, which with San Domingo will be made part of the missionary district of Porto Rico.

Health Protest Received.

The name of the missionary district of Cape Palapa was changed to Liberia and West Africa in China to Nanking, with no change in the territorial limits of either. The bishops favorably reported the resolution that up by the deputies for concurrence to allow the practice of intinction and the use of the wine in the holy communion by dipping the wafer into it.

The health authorities of Denver protested against the custom of passing the chalice from lip to lip, fearing disease might be communicated. The bishops decided that intinction should be adopted at the judgment of the clergyman, when conditions might seem to make the precaution necessary.

The house of deputies today deliberated regarding a proposed canon changing courts to review as intermediate tribunals in proceeding in trials for heresy. The court of review would take its place between the trial court where ecclesiastical trials were held and the court of appeals, to which an appeal from the trial court. The intermediate tribunal would be composed of only of bishops, and appeal from its decision could be taken to the court of appeals. Discussion of this matter will be renewed tomorrow.

Both men, together with five of those taken off a train Thursday night, were taken to the tent colony, where, so far as can be learned, they are being held, while two others who were captured early this morning were compelled to leave town.

James H. Jones, the photographer who was arrested last night, after being beaten by detectives, was released today, no complaint of resisting an officer being lodged against him.

Immediately Jones filed information against A. C. Felts, charging him with assault, and a warrant was issued. The warrant was not served tonight, as Felts is in Denver. Felts is one of the firm of detectives which is furnishing mine guards for operators in this section.

TRINIDAD, Oct. 17.—The body of Luka Vahinik, who was killed at Forbes today, was brought to the city tonight by the coroner and an inquest will be held tomorrow. Luka Vahinik, who was shot nine times, is confined here in the hospital. His recovery is doubtful. All the bullets went through the left leg below the hip.

Thirteen of the 16 tents were completely riddled by the machine gun.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 17.—Five men were removed from Denver & Rio Grande train No. 113 at Walsenburg, Colo., early this morning by a mob of about 20 supposed strikers, according to reports reaching the offices of the railroad company here today. The company's officers have begun an investigation.

The train was flagged with a red lantern in the west part of the Walsenburg yards at about 2 o'clock. Two armed men boarded the engine and ordered the engineer to keep the train at a standstill. Then about 20 men, some of them armed with revolvers, came and took out five of the passengers.

The captives were not allowed to re-enter the train which continued on its way after 15 minutes' delay.

TRINIDAD, Oct. 17.—Two Mexicans, whose names are unknown, were for a time taken from the train at Walsenburg tonight by strikers and were being held by them in the headquarters there today. The Mexicans had local tickets from Pueblo to Trinidad.

THOUSANDS REGISTER FOR NEBRASKA LANDS

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Oct. 17.—The registration today for 511 sections of homestead land in the North Platte forest reserve and Fort Niobrara military reservation was the largest since Superintendent Witten opened the office at Monday. apart to renewed exertions to develop so important an aerial weapon into a trustworthy implement of war.

The newspapers reflect the emperor's belief that there should be no relaxation in the effort to supply Germany with an adequate aerial fleet.

Bywireless Tele Story.

A director of one of the aviation companies at the Johannesburg aerodrome was an eyewitness of the disaster. He described it as follows:

"I was in my office about 50 yards from the scene of the accident when I was startled by an explosion of extraordinary violence. My first thought was that an aeroplane had landed on the roof of my building and that the machine had exploded."

"I rushed to a window and saw the new dirigible in flames and plunging toward the earth. The outer covering had been already burned off and the inner balloons still containing the gas had not yet appeared."

"The naked aluminum framework with its long center piece, its inter-laced ribs and its tapering ends and the gondolas containing the motors beneath, fell bow foremost. When the skeletons of the machines struck, the heavy gondolas buried themselves in the ground."

Fellows LI Tragedy.

Comix shortly after the destruction of the LI in a hurricane in the North sea on September 8, when 15 men were killed, today's disaster gave rise to a feeling of consternation in Berlin where public had within a week been saddened by the loss of many German aviators on board the burned Völkner and by accounts of the terrible mining catastrophe in Wales.

The dirigible before she left the balloon hall at Johannesburg took on her regular naval crew and a number of officers who headed for Berlin, a short distance away in a light wind. About a dozen aviators were circling the aerodrome at the time in aeroplanes.

Everything was apparently in good order on the airship. She was gradually getting up speed when suddenly an explosion was heard by those on the ground, evidently in one of the motors in the center gondola.

Whole Ship in Flames.

A flash shot out and the next instant the whole ship was afire and plunging downward. Every inch of the canvas covering and the balloons disappeared in a moment.

A second and more violent explosion was then heard, the fire having reached the gasoline tanks filled with about a ton of liquid fuel. Before the echoes of the explosion had died down, the wreck of the most modern of Germany's dirigibles lay a flaming mass on the ground.

The fire departments of all the neighboring suburbs with detachments of the balloon corps, the Pioneer and other troops, were soon on the spot but there was nothing left to save.

The balloon lay in a great curvilinear letter 'S' a mass of glowing wires and tangled ladders. The cylinders of the motors in the center gondola and one of the after propellers could be distinguished. Otherwise there was nothing to indicate that the debris was that of Germany's proudest airship.

Victims Caught in Wreck.

Pioneers armed with axes hacked at the wreckage for two hours before they extricated the last of the bodies of the victims. The dead were borne on stretchers to the balloon hall and a company of soldiers roped off the place to keep back the crowd.

The six inmates of the center gondola had been blown through the side of the car by the first explosion and their bodies fell a quarter of a mile away from the wreck of the balloon which was traveling at 40 miles an hour when the accident happened.

All the others except two were apparently killed by the explosion of the gasoline tank and were probably dead before the wreckage reached the earth.

The commander and members of the admiralty board were seated in the officers' gondola. After the first broke out they were trapped inside a net work of red-hot girders.

PUEBLO POULTRY EXPERT TALKS TO LOCAL FARMERS

"The man who goes into the chicken business must have a definite object in view," said Mr. Potter, who addressed the local poultry association last night at the city hall. In spite of the inclement weather, a large number of poultry fanciers attended, and plans were made for a future meeting at which a number of standard-bred flocks will be on exhibition.

Contrary to the general belief, Mr. Potter says that hens should be fed fat to lay.

Poultry raisers should buy the best quality of feed, the best quality of grain, and the best quality of water. The feed bill will be less and more and better eggs will result.

The fact that eggs are 75 percent water, necessitates that hens have all the fresh water they will drink. Superior foods, such as mangels, cabbage and green alfalfa supply much needed nutriment and water for the making of the eggs.

The laying hen may be told in many different ways. First off the goose in the morning and last on at night, the heavy eater. These are the hens that lay the best. The hen with the narrow body and with pinched tail is usually a poor layer.

After the regular address, questions were asked and Mr. Potter gave answers.

FARMER LAD ASKS FOR OLD CLOTHING SO THAT HE MAY ATTEND DISTRICT SCHOOL

Money He Saved for 'School Fund' Is Paid to Doctor; Hope of Education Vanishes

Perhaps you have always wanted to endow a college and in line with that desire here is a chance to endow a worthy lad with an education. And it won't take money!

If you know that a 16-year-old boy who wants an education very badly cannot go to school this winter because he hasn't the necessary clothes you wouldn't let that old suit of yours hang in the closet for the moths to make tunnels in, would you? Certainly not. Well, then, go upstairs now, take it off the hook, brush it up a bit and send it down to room 415 in the Hagerman building. The Associated Charities has found just such a boy in just such a situation.

It isn't John's fault that he hasn't any decent clothes to wear. It's the fault of the high cost of living, or rather existence—living is a little too optimistic a word to be applied to the life in John's home. His father is a dry farmer and has worked hard to support his wife and nine small children. But good crops have not blessed the little patch the father tills, and so John has had to help feed the family.

He worked hard all summer and hoarded his earnings. He called his little silver pile his "school fund," and intended that it would put him through school this winter. Then sickness came to two little brothers and John saw his "school fund" vanish for labeled bottles. And now he will have to give up his school this year unless, or rather until someone gives him clothes for surety someone in all Colorado Springs will be able to find an old suit or two that they will be willing to give.

John has to do the chores on the farm and all that, but he wants an education. He is in the second year of high school. To reach the district school of his district he will have to walk two miles to reach the school wagon that hauls the pupils of the consolidated school, and then ride three miles before he reaches the building. He wants to do all this but he has to be dressed decently first.

At 11 years, friends in Manitou provided him with clothes. They didn't fit very well but his mother shortened and drew them in until they bore some semblance of neatness. He wore them, too, in spite of this. Now his school mates. He studied hard, and at the end of the year stood second in his class. That's the kind of a boy who is striving for an education and who is asking, not for money, but just a few cast off garments.

SPRINGS HUNTERS BAG 'GREATER SNOW GOOSE'

The "Greater Snow Goose" has made its appearance in Colorado, for the first time it is believed, and early yesterday morning two fine specimens of the bird were killed at a private lake 12 miles south of Colorado Springs by C. F. Anderson, of 315 North El Paso street, and Alex Meredith, Ivy-wild.

According to ornithologists this species of the goose family summers within the boundaries of the Arctic circle between Hudson bay and Alaska. It usually migrates in the fall but rarely visits the eastern or central states. Those shot here yesterday measured 36 inches in length and five feet from tip to tip. They weighed between six and seven pounds each. The common Snow geese scarcely ever measure more than 25 inches.

The Greater Snow geese is extremely wary and very seldom does a hunter get close enough to one of them to bag it. The birds fly at a great height and go in flocks the same as the ordinary kind. There is some question as to just how the geese shot yesterday happened to be in the vicinity of Colorado Springs, but it is thought that they were possibly driven in from the west by the prevailing storm.

The two birds were brought in and inspected were said to be excellent specimens of their kind. They were entirely white except for a scattering of golden feathers on the neck.

A Splendid Tonic

Copa, Ky.—Mrs. Ida Moore, of this place, says, "I was so weak, I could hardly walk. I tried Cardui, and was greatly relieved. It is a splendid tonic. I have recommended Cardui to many friends, who tried it with good results." Testimony like this comes unsolicited, from thousands of earnest women, who have been benefited by the timely use of that successful tonic medicine, Cardui. Purely vegetable, mild, but reliable, Cardui well merits its high place in the esteem of those who have tried it. It relieves women's pains, and strengthens weak women. It is certainly worth a trial. Your druggist sells Cardui.

FRANK LEE RELEASED

Frank Lee, whom the police have been holding on request of the Wichita, Kan., authorities, was released yesterday. The Wichita police could not secure extradition papers for Lee. It is understood that he was wanted in the Kansas courts to answer to the charge of embezzling funds from the carpenters' union there, of which he was formerly secretary.

OLD-TIME GATTS OF ADVERTISERS

A good many people here, as in the rest of the country, rubbed their eyes yesterday and looked back a score of years when they read the newspapers, for yesterday, for the first time in many years, the one-time familiar legend, "St. Jacobs Oil Cures Pain," stared them in the face as it did long ago.

Time was when the center of the advertising stage was occupied by the St. Jacobs Oil people. That was before advertising was developed to its present extent, and the product, a of what was to be the world's most famous liniment in the world had the field of really big and liberal publicity to themselves.

"St. Jacobs Oil rubs away rheumatism, pain, backache, neuralgia, sprain, etc.," greeted one everywhere the eye rested, and in a few years the publicity, backed by the intrinsic worth of the preparation, brought a business of about $1,000 a year that has survived ever since, years after the advertising campaign had been completed.

The proprietors, it seems, have decided to place their product before the present generation as they did before the last, and in pursuance of this policy, "flushed" on the public again the old familiar announcements of a score of years ago.

It merely proves a good article, backed with proper advertising, never accumulates.

BRYAN DEFENDS 'GRANDFATHER CLAUSE' OF OKLA. CONSTITUTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Frank Aldrich, who has been shirking his duties and making the poor people bear the burden of the tax, said today that he will help them to reduce taxation and you must take some of that load upon yourselves.

Mr. Bryan said former Senator Aldrich's opposition to the currency bill was necessary to secure its passage. "Mr. Aldrich has done more than any other man in public life to make the Republican party a third party in this country," said the speaker.

"We had a meeting in Boston the other day and the papers say that when the question was asked as to whether banks should be controlled by a board of bankers, they all shouted: 'We think the banks ought to be controlled by bankers.'"

Reason for Regulation.

"Do you know of any other class of society that wants to control itself? What would you think of a railroad then said. 'We must control the interstate commerce commission that controls us in the railroad business.' Did you ever hear a railroad man claim that they should control one-half of the commerce commission, or one member of the board?"

"What do you regulate the banks for? For the benefit of the people, who do business with them. Whose money have the banks? Why, the people's money. Whose money do they get from the government? The people's! Then who says that the banks shall control themselves while they handle the people's money?"

"It is presumptuous, impertinent, audacious and the bankers themselves ought to be ashamed of it."

"Do they tell you that this board is to be political and that it is dangerous? Do you know of anything in this country that is not being done by political boards, any part of the government that is not controlled by political bodies? As a government which is made up of political heads and officers selected by the people, can regulate marriage and divorce, the death penalty and take a human life; who then, says that a political body cannot control the banks for the people?"

"The way some bankers talk you would imagine that business communities exist for the benefit of the banks. It would be just about as absurd to say that people eat in order to furnish a demand for farm products. This bill means that the banks are to fulfill the principles of their existence and are to live for the accommodation of business and not for its control."

We are to have 12 or more regional banks and no central bank. Mr. Aldrich complained the other day that he did not like the bill. That is the reason it was written this way so he wouldn't like it. If the bill suited him it wouldn't be fit to print. It was placed with it. It would be had. He prepared a bill and after he had taken a look through the country he returned from public life.

A large audience heard Mr. Bryan and applauded his remarks. A band was with him in the hall. He returned to Washington tonight.

ANSBERRY GIVES WILSON CANE FOR SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Representative Ansberry of Ohio, who has been abroad recuperating from a severe illness, brought to the White house and presented to the president a stout blackthorn cane.

"My ancestors," said Mr. Ansberry, "used this cane to settle many an argument at Honeybrook fair and you, Mr. President, may use it in the same way, if you like."

MINERS CAUGHT BY CAVIN STILL ALIVE

ROCKDALE, Ill., Oct. 17.—Seven of the eight miners caught yesterday in the Vogel and Lawrence mine, near here, when the roof of the mine caved in and the mine flooded, still are alive. They are imprisoned by a water barrier 90 feet below the surface, but are believed to be safe as long as their supply of air holds out. One miner was drowned outright. The men are Mexicans.

Air hole is being drilled to the miners and the mine is being pumped out as rapidly as possible. The men escaped drowning by reaching a slope beyond the cavin.

ELLIS CONFESSES TO MURDER OF WIFE

Denies Suicide Story and Says She Was "Grand Little Woman"

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—William C. Ellis, the Cincinnati leather merchant, who was found wounded in a hotel room here yesterday near the body of his wife, confessed to a coroner's jury today that he had killed the woman, and was held to the grand jury charged with murder. After a conference with members of his wife's family, Ellis abandoned his assertion made at first to the police, that the tragedy was the result of a suicide pact. He assumed the entire blame for the killing, and devoted his statement to obligating the impression, given in his first interview with the police, that jealousy was the cause of the crime.

Ellis, suffering from a bullet wound in his chest and from cuts on his wrist and throat, self-inflicted, in his abortive attempt to commit suicide after killing his wife, listened almost all day to the testimony in the coroner's court. His confession was made in a few words.

Says Wife Was Grand Woman.

"I will state that I shot my wife," he said. "I suppose my mind must have been affected. I was worried over business troubles and the state of my health. I want to say that my wife was the grandest little woman in the world and the most virtuous. There was no trouble between us. She couldn't do anything wrong."

Mrs. Ellis' body will be taken to Cincinnati by her brother-in-law, Philip C. Feudick, who came here for that purpose. Neither he nor Mrs. Ellis' cousin, Morris E. Ebersole, who lives here, took any steps to procure aid for Ellis, saying that their sole interest was in the murdered woman.

Ellis was taken to the bureau of identification and then returned to the house of correction hospital.

Vice Regent General Mrs. William Howard Crosby of Racine urged the daughters to do all in their power to destroy the sparrow. "Tran him, shoot him, get him any old way," she said, and the conference formally endorsed her recommendation.

War on Sparrow Is Declared by D. A. Rs.

L.A. CROSSE, Wis., Oct. 17.—Pity the poor English sparrow. He has been sentenced to death. With the same spirit which characterized their forefathers in opposing the red-coated Britons, the state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution at its concluding session here today decreed that the brown-coated Britisher must go.

Vice Regent General Mrs. William Howard Crosby of Racine urged the daughters to do all in their power to destroy the sparrow. "Tran him, shoot him, get him any old way," she said, and the conference formally endorsed her recommendation.

intervened personally in the outcome of a trial, or had acted as my prosecutor and condemned me before my jury, or because of personal grievances had expressed an opinion as to my guilt.

"The casting of votes by these senators violated the judgment, because had they refused to vote--a crime of decency should have induced them to do so. I could not have been convicted of one of the articles of impeachment.

"My trial, from beginning to end--so far as the Tammany part was concerned--was a farce, a political lynch--the consummation of a deep-laid political conspiracy to bust me from office.

"The court ruled against me in everything. Thrown settled rules of evidence were thrown to the winds. A bare-thief in frontier days would have treated a stranger thus.

Murphy in Control.

"Mr. Murphy controlled the assembly and ordered the impeachment. He controlled most of the members of the court, and dictated its procedure and wrote the judgment. He was the judge and the jury, the prosecutor and the bailliff.

"The meetings of the court were behind closed doors. It was a star chamber proceeding where the enemies of the state could work for my conviction undiscovered.

"They called it the high court of impeachment, but history will call it Murphy's high court of infamy. The trial was a human shambles, a libel on law, a flagrant abuse of constitutional rights, a disgrace to our civilization; and the verdict overturned the safeguards of liberty and the precedents of three centuries. The future historians will do my justice, and posterity will reverse the findings of the court.

"There is a higher court than Murphy's, the court of public opinion. I appeal from Murphy's court of political passion, to the calmer judgment of the future and the sober reflection of public opinion.

Only Temporary Victory.

"When I declined to obey the 'orders' of the 'boss' about patronage, when I refused to call off Hennesey and prevent further investigations of graft; and finally, when I set in motion the machinery of the courts to bring the criminals to justice and to stop the looting of the state, then and not until then, did Mr. Murphy threaten me with death. At that day all money, power and influence could do to destroy me, has been done.

"Mr. Murphy and the special interest which I antagonized, have won a temporary victory, but the fight for reform and for honest government will go on. The force of my trial will have a good effect in the end. It has opened the eyes of the people to the graft of millions of dollars annually and it will hasten the adoption of the initiative and referendum; bring about the recall of public officials, including judges and judicial decisions, and write upon the statute book other reforms, especially a direct primary law, so that the voters, instead of the bosses, will nominate as well as elect all of the public officials.

"The people now know that the power to nominate public officials is the power to control those offices, and that we cannot have honesty in the state of New York until the voters nominate and control all public officials.

Faithful to Trust.

"As the governor I have been honest and faithful to my trust. No influence but my conscience could control me in the performance of my duty. I have lost my office, but I have kept my self-respect.

"Let us indulge the hope that my loss of the governorship will be the people's gain. If my undoing shall be the humble means of destroying 'bossism' in New York, I shall be content.

"When the court determined to exclude the evidence of Mr. Hennesey and thus prevented my establishing facts which would discredit the testimony of Mr. Reek and show his motive for telling an untruth, and also disclose corruption in the various departments of the state government and which were largely the inducing cause in bringing about my impeachment, I became satisfied that it was useless to present myself as a witness, because I would not be permitted to tell the facts which I considered my best and most efficient means of clearing my name in court.

"I wanted to take the witness stand in my own behalf, especially to tell the story of my troubles with the boss, and to deny the fact fabrication, and to explain the Morganthau testimony. But I was persuaded not to do so by those who have to know the real welfare of the state; and because under the rulings of the court, regarding testimony in my behalf, it was apparent that my story of the witness stand would be ruled out as incompetent and inadmissible. I was further advised that as no evidence against me had been adduced of VILFRED AND CORRUPT MISCONDUCT IN OFFICE, that therefore I had committed no impeachable offense as the governor of the state; and hence could not, on the evidence before the court, legally or justly be removed from office.

Says Peck Lied to Save Job.

Those familiar with the facts can testify that Peck lied about me to save his job, that Morganthau was fooled by the clever ruse of the unscrupulous enemy, and that Ryan was in Albany several days under the tutelage of astute counsel to aid the prosecution at the psychological moment in any way desired.

Suffice it to say that Allan Ryan came to see me; I did not go to see him and I never asked him or any other man to request Senator Root or Delancey Niell to see Mr. Ryan, or Mr. Murphy of any sort, for that matter to do aught for me regarding the trial. These matters were afterthoughts of the prosecution to injure my cause.

Every dollar given me which I deposited to my personal account, subsequently was turned over by me to the committee in my office, or to an agent of Mr. Murphy, or to the state committee.

It is now apparent that the stories put in circulation regarding money given me when I was a candidate for governor were grossly exaggerated, industriously circulated and prominently printed to prejudice my case before the people.

Tells of Financial Condition.

I want to tell the people the truth about my financial condition. Before I was a candidate for the governorship I was in debt about $70,000 and had more assets than I have at present.

I owe now as follows:
J. M. Josephthal $27,000
Hugh L. Reilly $28,500
T. P. Mooney $10,000
A. R. Sprinkle $2,000
Orville & Co. $1,000
Smaller creditors about $1,000.
Making a total of $70,000 besides the cost of my trial.

I own no other assets save an equity in stock in two small mining camps. This stock has no market value.

I had on deposit before my nomination over $11,000. I have on deposit now not much more, and that is all the money I possess. I am poorer today than I was before the fight for the governorship began last fall.

Had I wanted to make money out of my campaign I certainly would not have rejected as I did, offers of donations from several citizens of upward of $100,000--I borrowed the money I did from Reilly and Mooney and others. The court ruled out all testimony concerning these large sums of money offered to me by Judge Hennesey and others, and which I declined for good and sufficient reasons.

Willing for People to Judge.

I have fought a good fight against tremendous odds for honest government. I have kept my faith. I have been true to my official oath. I have stood by the people. I have dared to defy Boss Murphy, and I did it in the

MRS. EATON'S MOTHER

IMPORTANT WITNESS

Admiral Addicted to Drink,
She Says, but Doesn't Quit About Drugs

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 17.—Mrs. Virginia Harrison of Alexandria, Va., a member of a prominent family of that state, was a witness in the prosecution today to tell about conditions in the home of her daughter, Jennie May Eaton, who is being tried on the charge of murdering her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, U. S. N., retired, by giving him poison.

Mrs. Harrison said that her daughter manifested "hysterical tendencies" towards the admiral at times. In the past four years, the witness has spent much of her time at her daughter's home in Aspinhill, and she testified that she considered her son-in-law "always very much of a gentleman."

Her daughter, she said, seemed actually to believe that the admiral dabbled in drugs and was insane. Mrs. Harrison could see no signs of these things. She had seen the admiral intoxicated, she testified, but she never detected any signs of a drug habit. She first noticed the admiral's fatal illness on March 6, she said, before he had touched the roast pork which Mrs. Eaton claims was the cause of that attack.

It was the first time she had seen her daughter since Mrs. Eaton left home on March 30 to attend the inquiry at Hingham, where she was arrested on the charge of murder. Often, as she answered the questions of District Attorney Parker, tears rolled down her cheeks. Whenever she seemed on the verge of breaking down, Mrs. Eaton would live forward and smile reassuringly.

Mrs. Harrison took the stand after her 16-year-old grand-daughter, Dorothy, had finished six hours of testimony. She corroborated much of what Dorothy had said about friction in the home.

Attorneys for the defense said they might call Mrs. Harrison again.

face of threats of exposure and personal disreputation. "I am frank to say that I now realize I should have been more careful in some of the statements I made. I was a busy, in the campaign that I gave no heed to details and trusted others, some of whom have proved treacherous. But so far as my administration of the governorship is concerned, I have no regrets, as my conscience tells me truly that I have done no wrong, but my whole duty, fearlessly and honestly--to all the people of the state--as God gave me the light to see the right.

At some future and more opportune time, I promise to make a further statement, and I am inclined to the conclusion that I would rather express my views from the platform, where I can look into the eyes of the people, and they can look into mine and judge for themselves whether I am telling the truth."

Washington today that in the conference of diplomats called by the Spanish minister at Mexico City Wednesday, practically all those present, except British and American representatives, recommended armed intervention. State department officials, however, said, no such report had reached them.

Situation Still Unchanged.

The situation seemed unchanged tonight with respect to further diplomatic efforts by the Washington government, which is disposed to treat no further with the Huerta regime, though admittedly in a receptive mood for suggestions or declarations of purposes on the part of the constitutionalists.

Constitutional representatives here are maintaining silence with respect to such negotiations. The only development to which they called attention was the appointment of General Felipe Angeles as minister of war to Governor Carranza. They said Angeles was commissioned a major general in the federal army before Huerta was overthrown, that he remained in Mexico City until a month ago and at the first opportunity sailed for Europe and came to the United States at once, arriving in Nogales, Sonora, today to join Carranza. News of his active participation in the constitutional movement, its local representative said, caused a sensation to day at army circles in Mexico City.

United States Should Act.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 17.—That the United States must act to put an end to the impossible conditions constituting a daily menace to the lives of their nationals, was the opinion expressed by several of the diplomatic representatives who assembled for an informal conference in the German legation here Wednesday. Among those who attended were the ministers of Great Britain, France, Germany, Spain, Austria and Norway.

No definite plan of action was agreed upon but the situation was discussed at length. None of those present would discuss for publication what took place, but it became known today that intervention by the United States will be regarded by a majority of the diplomats as the only solution for the situation.

Senor Coloman V. Coloman, the Spanish minister, is said to have kept an eye on the Spaniards who had been killed or injured in Mexico during the revolution.

The minister, it is said, was inclined to put the blame for Mexico's present situation upon the Washington government. Sen. Coloman declared that the U. S. minister declined to express an opinion on the wisdom of intervention.

EPISCOPALIANS ALLOW

PRACTICE OF INTINCTION

Denver Health Authorities P. 11111
Against Use of Common Chalice

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Against the resignations and transfers of prelates were considered by the house of bishops, the higher governing body of the Protestant Episcopal church, at the triennial general convention today. Bishop Edward William Catherin, of the diocese of Springfield, Ill., resigned because of age and infirmity. Bishop Joseph M. Fehola, of the diocese of Indianapolis, asked to be transferred to a diocese more favorable to his family and probably will be assigned either to the vacant see in Cuba, or the missionary district of Porto Rico. Bishop Cameron Mann was transferred from the missionary district of South Dakota to the missionary district of Florida.

Vacancies in one diocese and five missionary districts, caused by deaths or resignations, are to be filled at an election on Monday. The election will be held at an executive meeting of the house of bishops, after which the house of deputies will select a group to confirm the nominees. Only the names of successful candidates will be announced.

The house of bishops took into full communion with the church today the island of Haiti, which with San Domingo will be made part of the missionary district of Porto Rico.

Health Protest Resolved.

The name of the missionary district of Cape Palmas was changed to Liberia and that of Wu in China to Nanking, with no change in the territorial limits of either. The bishops favorably reported the resolution sent up by the deputies for concurrence to allow the practice of intinction administering the wine in the holy communion by dipping the wafer into it. The health authorities of Denver protested against the custom of intinction, which might be communicated. The bishops ordered that intinction should be adopted at the judgment of the clergy when conditions might seem to make the practice necessary.

The house of deputies today deliberated regarding a proposed canon creating courts to review an interdict by tribunals in proceeding in trials for heresy. The court of review would take its place between the trial court where ecclesiastical trials were held and the court of appeal, to which under the present procedure appeals are taken from the trial court. The intermediary tribunal would be composed of only of bishops, and appeal from its decision could be taken to the court of appeal. Discussion of this matter will be renewed tomorrow.

Their tent colony. They were taken from a Colorado & Southern train which arrived at 6:30 o'clock this evening.

Both men, together with five of those taken off a train Tuesday night, were taken to the tent colony. After so far as can be learned, they are being held, while two others who were captured early this morning were compelled to leave town.

Jones Released.

TRINIDAD, Oct. 17.—G. S. Jones, the photographer who was arrested last night, after being beaten by detectives, was released today, no complaint of resisting an officer being lodged against him.

Immediately Jones filed information against A. C. Felt, charging him with assault, and a warrant was issued. The warrant was not served tonight, as Felt is in Denver. Felt is one of a group of detectives which is furnishing mine guards for operators in this section.

TRINIDAD, Oct. 17.—The body of Luke Vahrik, who was killed at Forbes today, was brought to the city tonight by the coroner and an inquest will be held tomorrow. Nola Vanlon, who was shot nine times, is confined here in the hospital. His recovery is doubtful. All the bullets went through the left leg below the hip.

Thirteen of the 16 tents were completely riddled by the machine gun.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 17.—Five men were removed from Denver & Rio Grande train No. 113 at Walsenburg, Colo., early this morning by a mob of about 20 supposed strikers, according to reports reaching the offices of the railroad company here today. The company's officers have begun an investigation.

The train was flagged with a red lantern in the west part of the Walsenburg yards at about 2 o'clock. Two armed men boarded the engine and ordered the engineers to keep the train at a standstill. Then about 20 men, some of them armed, went through the cars and took out five of the passengers.

The captives were not allowed to re-enter the train which continued on its way after 15 minutes delay.

TRINIDAD, Oct. 17.—Two Mexicans, whose names are unknown were found today from the train at Walsenburg tonight by strikers and are being held by them in their headquarters there. The Mexicans had local tickets from Pueblo to Trinidad.

THOUSANDS REGISTER FOR NBRASKA LANDS

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Oct. 17.—The registration today for 511 sections of homestead land in the North Platte forest reserve and Fort Niobrara military reservation was the largest since Superintendent Witten opened the office last Monday. The registering here and at Broken Bow and Valentine numbered more than 6,000 and the total to date exceeds 11,000.

VIC K-LLOGG-HAINES SINGING

They are five in the "Kelloff" Party--Vic Kelloff, Joe Kelloff, and three others. Much of their program is given in English and Spanish. The Kelloff Party is in the city tonight.

W. K. Kelloff, who left the balloon, fell at Johnson that took on board her regular crew and a number of officers. She headed for Berlin, a short distance away, in a light wind. About a dozen aviators were circling the balloon at the time in aeroplanes.

Everything was apparently in good order on the albatross. She was gradually getting up speed when suddenly, an explosion was heard by those on the ground, evidently in one of the motors in the center gondola.

Whole Ship in Flames.
A flash shot out and the next instant the whole ship was aflame and plunging downward. Every inch of the canvas covering and the balloons disappeared in a moment.

The fire departments of all the neighboring suburbs with detachments of the balloon corps, the Pioneer and other troops, were soon on the spot but there was nothing left to save.

The balloon lay in a great curvilinear letter "S" a mass of glowing wires and tangled ladders. The cylinders of the motors in the center gondola and one of the after gondolas could be distinguished. Otherwise there was nothing to indicate that the debris was that of Germany's proudest airship.

Victims Caught in Wreck.
Pioneers armed with axes hacked at the wreckage for two hours before they extricated the last of the bodies of the victims. The dead were borne on stretchers to the balloon hall and a company of soldiers roped off the place to keep back the crowd.

The six inmates of the center gondola had been blown through the side of the car by the first explosion and their bodies fell a quarter of a mile away from the wreck of the balloon, which was traveling at 40 miles an hour when the accident happened.

All the others except two were apparently killed by the explosion of the gasoline tank and were probably dead before the wreckage reached the earth.

The commander and members of the admiralty board were seated in the officers' gondola. After the fire broke out they were caged inside a fireproof safe.

PUEBLO POULTRY EXPERT TALKS TO LOCAL FARMERS

"The man who goes into the chicken business must have a definite object in view," this was the view expressed last night by Frank Potter of Pueblo, who addressed the local Poultry association last night at the city hall. In spite of the inclement weather, a large number of poultry fanciers attended, and plans were made for a future meeting at which a number of standard-bred fowls will be on exhibition.

Contrary to the general belief, Mr. Potter says that hens cannot be too fat to lay.

"Poultry raisers should harvest their fertile eggs after the hatching season is over," said Mr. Potter. "The fowls should be sold or culled by themselves. The feed bill will be less and more and better eggs will result."

The fact that eggs are 75 per cent water, necessitates that fowls have all the fresh water they will drink. Good quality foods, such as alfalfa, hay, bugs and green alfalfa supply much needed nutriment and water for the making of the eggs.

"The laying hen may be sold in many different ways: First off the roost in the morning and set on at night, the heavy eaters. These are the hens that lay heaviest. The hen with the narrow body and with pinched tail is usually a poor layer."

After the regular address, questions were asked and Mr. Potter gave answers.

OLD-TIME GIANT OF ADVERTISERS

A good many people here, up to the rest of the country, rubbed their eyes yesterday and harked back a score of years when they read the newspapers, for yesterday, for the first time in many years, the one-time familiar legend, "St. Jacobs Oil Conquers Pain," stared them in the face as it did long ago.

Time was when the center of the advertising stage was occupied by the St. Jacobs Oil people. That was before advertising was developed to its present extent and the projectors of what grew to be the best-known family liniment in the world had the field of a really big and liberal publicity to themselves.

"St. Jacobs Oil rubs away rheumatism, pain, backache, neuralgia, sprain, etc.," greeted one everywhere the eye rested, and in a few years the publicity, backed by the intrinsic worth of the preparation, brought a business of about $1,000,000 a year that has survived ever since, years after the advertising campaign had been completed.

The proposition, it seems, have decided to place their product before the present generation as they did before the last, and, in pursuance of this policy, "St. Jacobs Oil" on the public again the old familiar announcements of a score of years ago.

It merely proves a good article, backed with proper advertising, never succumbs.

BRYAN DEFENDS 'GRANDFATHER CLAUSE' OF OKLA. CONSTITUTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Frank Aldrich, who has been abroad recuperating from a severe illness, brought to the White House and presented to the president a stout blackthorn cane.

"This cane," said Mr. Aldrich, "is a reminder to me of the many arguments at Honeybrook fair and you, Mr. President, may use it in the same way, if you like."

Mr. Aldrich, appearing for the Oklahoma election officials, contended that, while the state law discriminated against negroes, it did not abridge any of their rights guaranteed by the fifteenth amendment.

Solicitor General Davis argued that the clause which provides that no one shall vote who cannot read and write, except those of Indian descent, and that those of Indian descent shall be entitled to vote on January 1, 1906, should be annulled as an unconstitutional attempt to abridge the right of negroes to vote.

FARMER LAD ASKS FOR OLD CLOTHING SO THAT HE MAY ATTEND DISTRICT SCHOOL

Money He Saved for 'School Fund' Is Paid to Doctor; Hope of Education Vanishes

Perhaps you have always wanted to endow a college and in line with that desire here is a chance to endow a worthy lad with an education. And it won't take money!

If you know that a 16-year-old boy who wants an education very badly cannot go to school this winter because he hasn't the necessary clothes you wouldn't let that old suit of yours hang in the closet for the months to make rumples in it, would you? Certainly not. Well, so upstairs now, take it off the book, lift it up a bit and send it down, to room 415 in the Hagerman building. The Associated Charities has found just such a boy in just such a situation.

It isn't John's fault that he hasn't any decent clothes to wear. It's the fault of the high cost of living, or rather existence—living is a little too optimistic a word to be applied to the life in John's home. His father is a dry farmer and has worked hard to support his wife and nine small children. But good crops have not blessed the little patch the father tills, and so John has had to help feed the family. He worked hard all summer and hoarded his earnings. He called his little silver pile his "school fund."

intended that it would put him through school this winter. Then sickness came to two little brothers and John saw his "school fund" vanish for labeled bottles. And now he will have to give up his school this year unless, or rather, until someone gives him clothes for surely someone in all Colorado Springs will be able to find an old suit or two that they will be willing to give.

John has to do the chores on the farm and all that, but he wants an education. He is in his second year of high school. To reach the school of his district he will have to walk two miles to reach the school, and then ride five miles before he reaches the building. He wants to do all this but he has to be dressed decently.

Last year, friends in Vinton provided him with clothes. They didn't fit very well but his mother shortened and drew them in until they bore a resemblance to new ones. He wore them, too, in the old days from his school days. He stayed here, and at the end of the year stood in his class. That's the kind of a boy who is striving for an education and who is asking, not for money, but just a few cast-off garments.

Monday night at 7 o'clock three 10-foot balloons will be sent up at the Y. M. C. A. building. Every boy between the ages of 10 and 15 inclusive will have a chance to follow the balloons which carry tags good for one, two, three months and 3 months membership, respectively. This is open to all boys of Colorado Springs and vicinity. For further notice see ad in the paper.

Diarrhea Quickly Cured. "I was taken with diarrhea and Mr. Torka, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others that I gave it to," writes M. E. Gehlert, Oriskany, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhea can be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. For sale by all dealers. Adv.

MINERS CAUGHT BY CAVEIN STILL ALIVE

ROCKDALE, Tex., Oct. 17.—Seven of the eight miners caught late yesterday in the Vogel and Lawrence mine, near here, when the roof of the mine caved in, and the mine flooded, still are alive. They are imprisoned by a water barrier 30 feet below the surface, but are believed to be safe as long as their supply of air holds out. One miner was drowned outright. The men are Mexicans.

An air hole is being drilled to the miners and the mine is being pumped out as rapidly as possible. The men are being rescued by reaching a steep beyond the cavein.

Mr. Bryan said Former Senator Aldrich's opposition to the currency bill was necessary to secure its passage. "Mr. Aldrich has done more than any other man in public life to make the Republican party a third party in this country," said the speaker.

"We had a meeting in Boston the other day and the papers say that when the question was asked as to whether banks should be controlled by a board of bankers, they all shouted: 'We think the banks ought to be controlled by bankers.'"

"Do you know of any other class of society that wants to control itself? What would you think of a railroad that said: 'We must control the interstate commerce commission that controls us in the railroad business.' Did you ever hear a railroad man claim that they should control one-half of the commerce commission, or one member of the board?"

"What do you regulate the banks for? For the benefit of the people, who do business with them. Whose money have the banks? Why, the people's money. Whose money do they get from the government? The people's! Then who says that the banks shall control themselves while they handle the people's money?"

"It is presumptuous, impertinent, audacious and the bankers themselves ought to be ashamed of it."

"Do they tell you that this board is to be political and that it is dangerous? Do you know of anything in this country that is not being done by political boards; any part of the government that is not conducted by political bodies? As a government which is made up of political heads and officers selected by the people, can make your laws, protect your property, regulate marriage and divorce, the death penalty and take a human life; who, then, says that a political body cannot control the banks for the people?"

"The way some bankers talk you would imagine that business communities exist for the benefit of the banks. It would be just about as absurd to say that people eat in order to furnish a demand for farm products. This bill means that the banks are to fulfill the principles of their existence and are to live for the accommodation of business and not for its control."

"We are to have 12 or more regional banks and no central bank. Mr. Aldrich complained the other day that he did not like this bill. That is the reason it was written this way so he wouldn't like it. If the bill suited him, it wouldn't be fit to print. It was prepared with it, it would be bad. He prepared a bill and after he had taken a look through the country he resigned from public life."

ELLIS CONFESSES TO MURDER OF WIFE

Denies Suicide Story and Says She Was "Grand Little Woman"

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—William C. Ellis, the Cincinnati leather merchant, who was found wounded in a hotel room here yesterday near the body of his wife, confessed to a coroner's jury today that he had killed the woman, and was held to the grand jury charged with murder. After a conference with members of his wife's family, Ellis abandoned his assertion made at first to the police, that the tragedy was the result of a suicide pact. He assumed the entire blame for the killing, and devoted his statement to obliterating the impression given in his first interview with the police, that jealousy was the cause of the crime.

Ellis, suffering from a bullet wound in his chest and from cuts on his wrist and throat, self-inflicted, in his abortive attempt to commit suicide after killing his wife, listened almost all day to the testimony in the coroner's court. His confession was made in a few words.

"She was a grand woman," he said. "I will state that I shot my wife." He said, "I suppose my mind must have been affected. I was worried over business troubles and the state of my health. I want to say that my wife was the grandest little woman in the world and the most virtuous. There was no trouble between us. She couldn't do anything wrong."

"Mrs. Ellis' body will be taken to Cincinnati," by her brother-in-law, Philip C. Fiedler, who came here for that purpose. Neither he nor Mrs. Ellis' cousin, Morris F. Eberole, who lives here, took any steps to procure aid for Ellis, saying that their sole interest was in the murdered woman. Ellis was taken to the bureau of identification and then returned to the house of correction hospital.

War on Sparrow Is Declared by D. A. Rs.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Oct. 17.—Pity the poor English sparrow. He has been sentenced to death. With the same spirit which characterized their forefathers in opposing the red-coated Britons, the state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution at its concluding session here today decreed that the brown-coated Britisher must go.

Vice Regent General Mrs. William Howard Crosby of Racine urged the Daughters to do all in their power to destroy the sparrow. "Trap him, shoot him, get him any old way," she said, and the conference formally indorsed her recommendation.

Rockefeller's Boyhood Church in Unique Consolidation

The Most Notable Instance of Church Union on Record Effected in Owego, N. Y.—Merge for Social Service, Two Flourishing Bodies, Presbyterian and Congregational, Unite Without Dissenting Faction. Divided Building Now Social Center.

BY THE RELIGIOUS RAMBLER

A meeting of the Protestant Episcopal general convention has again taken place in the subject of church union. Other general church bodies, notably the Disciples of Christ and the United Brethren, have had it up this month. While these discussions are more or less academic, the cause is promoted.

Many advocates of organic Christianity are now saying that the great goal will be reached piecemeal—by the uniting of individual congregations in local communities. They say that church union must come from the bottom up, and not from the top down.

There has recently come to light, through "The Continent," the most amazing case of an individual church unification on record. It has taken place in Owego, N. Y., where successful congregations of different denominations, Presbyterian and Congregational, agreed to unite, solely from a conviction that they could do better service for the kingdom of heaven in Owego as one strong body than as two. The merger has been carried through without a hitch, the only dissenters being a venerable couple, past 80 years of age, who disliked to give up the pew in which they had sat for half a century. The effect of the union has deeply influenced the entire life of the community.

Where Rockefeller and Gladden Met. Owego is the boyhood home of the Rockefellers, and both John D. and William attended the Presbyterian church. So did Washington Gladden, who has since become an ardent devotee of the Standard Oil company. He it was who raised the "untold money" cry in the Congregational denomination, apropos of a gift of Mr. Rockefeller to the American board of foreign missions. The Rockefellers and young Gladden also attended the old academy in Owego.

About 50 years ago the Congregational church was organized by a faction from the Presbyterian church. Washington Gladden went out, with his parents, into the new church. Now, quite romantically, he has been in the company of those who brought the two bodies together, and he preached the first sermon before the united congregation.

The Preacher's Part. The personality of the two ministers had a great deal to do with this unusual union; although the Owego social atmosphere is liberal, and progressive. These young men were Rev. L. R. Howard of the Presbyterian church and Rev. A. W. Bloomfield of the Congregational church. They are of the type of modern, wide-angled, efficient young minister, with a passion for social efficiency. Denominational lines meant little to them. Howard, the Presbyterian pastor, had been raised a British Wesleyan. The desire of Howard to become a Congregational student pastor at the University of Nebraska really afforded the occasion for the union, and Bloomfield was called to serve the united church.

The consolidation of congregations is no rare thing. Most of them are forced by fear or adversity, when they are to be fighting a losing battle. In Owego it was quite otherwise. Both churches were prospering. But it was plain to any clear-headed, honest student of the facts that if denominationalism and parochialism could be put aside, the two churches could become one, with a resultant economy and efficiency in the service of the community. There would be a loss of denominationalism, but an increase of religion. As a matter of record, seven families who would not have joined

What the Press Agents Say

"READY MONEY" TODAY

"Nothing succeeds like success" is the keynote of "Ready Money," the comedy of love, romance and thrills which will be seen at the Opera house today, matinee and evening, under the management of William A. Brady, Ltd. Stephen Baird, the hero, "Ready Money" this after he realizes the wisdom of these words, spoken by a counter-fetter.

The story of "Ready Money" is that of a young mine owner, who is trying to obtain money to have some real gold dug out of his mine, so that he may marry his sweetheart, but he finds it very difficult to get anybody to believe his prospects are good, except the girl. A New Year's eve finds him down to his last quarter of a dollar. Through a series of humorous adventures, during which a counter-fetter loans him some money to convince financiers that, as a matter of fact, there is really no need of their money, the young hero arrives at January 1 with his promised wife and $50,000 in real money. The play is said to prove conclusively what may be accomplished by a man under the good influence of the woman he loves, and the human trait that "you don't have to have money to make it. All you have to do is to make people think you have it."

Fortunately for all concerned, the women of this part of the globe do not have to busy themselves with marching and bomb throwing, and hunger striking. They are permitted to sit in their homes, and what they are permitted to do in their families, one can decide either from the joke books or from one's own experience. Any way, woman and her problems loom large in the public eye. Novelists and playwrights are busy with her and she seems destined to get the fairest hearing possible. Hampered by many conventions that do not touch man, a young girl of today is confronted by many trials that tax her wit and try her soul. And often her measure as a girl of worth is determined by the man in the way in which she meets these obstacles. One like a play primarily for the persons one meets across the footlights. As a play of likeable people will never lack appreciative audiences. If James Montgomery had not put such a winsome, lovable girl as Grace Tyler in his comedy, "Ready Money," the comedy might not have been the success it is. When you see the romantic play you will feel about Grace much the same as Stephen Baird, the hero of the play, feels about her. And it is safe to wager that you will applaud Stephen for doing all the things that he finds it necessary to do, for you will want Stephen to overcome the obstacles set in his way by Grace's parents. It is a play that will allure women, and the final outcome of the girl's trials will delight all those who believe in the ability of a woman to make her choice stand by it.

The entire theme of the play is timely, and the problems of love are worked out on pretty much the same basis that the present generation is working out today. The play is equally appealing to both men, and women, those that are married and those that expect to be.

"Ready Money" is played by a "large company" organized with Mr. Brady's well-known care and discrimination, and comes with a record of eight months in New York, eight months and, as does "The White Slave." The production this evening is under the direction of Robert Campbell, who has given the play what is said to be the most perfect production it has ever had. The company has been carefully selected, so that all the parts are in the hands of capable and experienced players. The scenic investiture is from the brushes of Walter Burridge and W. R. Street; speaking of this, it was Burridge who painted the production which was gotten up in 1882 at Haverly's theater, New York city. The low lands of the Mississippi valley have given the scenic artists a rare opportunity to display their skill, while the electrical side of the production is undoubtedly as elaborate as has ever been attempted by a touring organization, including as it does all the illusions of sun, rain, sun sets, the rising of the moon burning through a bank of clouds, and the destruction of a Mississippi steamboat by fire, which is produced by means of electrical apparatus similar to that which is used in "Kiss and Kissinger's" production of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

Now comes the most advanced and generous exploitation of America's preferred form of light entertainment—a deluxe special train carrying to the principal cities and towns of America and Canada, the most costly, the most modern and the most talented group of famous vaudeville artists foundings feats in gymnastics, "vibrating" muscular exertions and uncanny physical contortions, are at once the delight and the puzzle of those who have witnessed this odd performance. Herschel Hendler, to whom the piano-forte is a Pandora box of infinite expression, humor, mimicry, pathos and illustrative moment—Hendler, who has astounded wherever he has appeared, comes along with Anna Held's variety jubilee, Ward & Curran, the emperors of laughter, in their roaring farce "The Stage Door Tender," which will be seen "also. Flown a dance, where dancing is at once an art, a science and a religion comes "Frances and Florette," the comedy, the dynamic, the dance-loving pair, who give new and marvelous meaning to the "Tango," the "Sensation Glide," and that most classically beautiful waltz, "The Heavens." And to all of this, a spume of laughing bubbles on the wine of splendid vaudeville, there is the exuberantly funny "Speed Maria," bicycle and automobile burlesque of Charles Ahern and his company of 10 grotesque and beautiful comedians. This cluster of all that is cleverest, most beautiful and best in the contemporary amusement of three continents is fixed in a beautiful setting, a fragile and yet tenuous story, the book and music of which are by Stanley Murphy. John Cort, under whose management this remarkable tour is being made, has broken all records in the lavishly and daring with which he has enlisted talent, equipped the production and entrained it for the delight of those capable of appreciating the inspiring possibilities of perfect and uplifting twentieth-century vaudeville. To cream and comb the foremost talent of three continents with the most beautiful and gifted singing combination of her day at the head of the organization, is not done twice in a generation, and that is what John Cort has done for the "Anna Held all-star variety jubilee."

"THE WHITE SLAVE"

Bartley Campbell's picturesque southern drama, "The White Slave," a story of antebellum days, will be given an elaborate scenic production at the Opera house, Monday, October 20th, with the usual bargain matinee. "The White Slave" has been a favorite theatrical offering for many years. It entertained a past generation, when it was produced under the personal direction of the author at a time when he occupied the same relative position in the theatrical world as is now occupied by David Belasco. It would be safe to say that no other American play so faithfully depicts the everyday life of the people of the south-

Melissa was a revelation to vaudeville on his previous visits to the Empress house. The older Meliss was recognized as the greatest phonetic actor of the day. The act is one of the most beautiful ever staged. On its appearance in Seattle, at the Opera house, with Nina Payne in the title role, it scored a tremendous hit, but with the author in the principal decorative role, the piece should register an even greater success than on its presentation here, the big time. Certainly the fact that Mr. Meliss himself is to accompany the act is a great triumph for Sullivan & Constable. There are 10 people in the act.

Luciana Lucca, who will appear at the Empress, beginning today, has the odd, natural gift of two voices, both as distinctly separate as the arm is from the leg. The discovery of two voices in Lucca is almost as curious as the fact that he has them. While singing in the chorus of the La Scala Opera company, in Milan, which, by the way, probably is the most famous vocal organization in the world, Lucca was standing in the wings one night listening to the big aria from Lucia di Lammermoor, being sung by one of the famous Italian sopranos. Unconsciously he began to follow her in the difficult vocal pyrotechnics, necessary in this great act of opera. The stage manager heard him and beckoned to the musical director, who had left his assistant to direct the orchestra. The director stood close behind Lucca and listened. Next day Lucca saw some of the most difficult soprano arias for the musical director, in the dimly lighted house. That was the start of the young Italian. Since then he has appeared in every city of the old world. This will mark his second appearance in America.

Julie Bernard and Florence Scarth are among the delightful features of the coming week's offering, beginning today, at the Empress theater. The act has for the past years appeared in all the big eastern vaudeville theaters, where it has made one of the hits of the vaudeville season. Julie Bernard is a comedian of the quiet

ROADS MUST CONFORM TO INTERSTATE RULE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Federal the railroad operating out of Bo to conform to the construction of interstate commerce commission, acting as a board of arbitration in the port traffic case, probably will in the near future in a definite putting the account on the books into effect. The Boston road is now charging lower rates on export to points west than lines out of New York. It has been held by the commission and sustained by the supreme court that discriminatory rates of local location cannot be equaled by making of lower freight rates from more distant points. It is immaterial to the commission whether the Boston rates are raised to a parity with the New York rates or the Boston rates are lowered to a parity with the New York rates. The Boston rates are lowered if it would state the readjustment of the bound import rates out of Philadelphia and Baltimore.

The likelihood is that as a way out of the present interstate commission will be an order in New York court making effective conclusions.

An extra guard of police was put before the doors of the court morning and those interested in course of the trial were not allowed to enter the court.

PACKEY M'FARLAND WINS OVER MURPHY EASILY

With Two Rounds in the Good Chicago
Scraper Nearly Lays New Yorker Cold

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—In a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden, to-night, Paakey McFarland of Chicago outboxed and outfought Tommy Murphy of this city from start to finish, never giving Murphy a chance in any round. McFarland weighed 140 and Murphy 138 pounds.

McFarland's right arm a cleverly exhibiting of boxing throughout. In the first round, Murphy was unable to reach his opponent with a clean blow, while McFarland rained left jabs and right hooks to the head and face. At close quarters Murphy's short-arm work was cleverly blocked by McFarland, who acted as though he was giving a boxing lesson. Murphy did not get a single blow in, and these had no effect on the stocky champion. Murphy was frequently carried across the ring with Murphy appeared to tire in the sixth after receiving a hard right uppercut to the jaw. The crowd kept calling to McFarland to put him out. In the seventh and eighth, McFarland frequently slapped Murphy in the face with the back of his right glove. It appeared as though the Chicago fighter could have brought the bout to a quicker termination, had he so desired.

3-day School for Young People's Topics

THE COST OF COWARDICE

International Sunday School Lesson for October 19 "The Report of Spies." Numbers 13:1-3, 17-14:10.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

On the desert march, the varied of servants to do their worst a human race, the messenger whom he expected the most was fear.

That black vigilant has ever been one of the most diligent of his empires.

Justice has conquered more lives has the sword. Sheer, crass, fright, shameless and wide.

is only one phase of the effects of indecision, a timorous ex-of prudence, and a dread of un-ways is the commoner manifestation of fear by which individuals are often destroyed.

who are afraid to go forward always with us, hindering the possibilities of life, even in our own land today, as well as in the history of the Hebrew emigrants

With Eyes of Terror

The art of seeing straight is rare. Few persons have unimpaired vision for comprehending life in its wholeness. The youths who talk glibly of "seeing life" confessedly mean seeing only the dirty side of life.

The pessimist is a man who needs the attention of a spiritual oculist; he is not seeing things in their relationship.

Because their own eyes were filled with terror, ten of the spies of Moses came back scared. Fear had nipped their manhood. Courage gone, they were as unreasonable as a mob in a turning building. The fortified cities of Canaan looked big to them, and the inhabitants seemed giants. That was because they had given their mind, and entertained contemptible thoughts of themselves. Had they been brave and big in their own souls, the attitude of their difficulties would have appeared less.

Cowardice is contagious. The fearsome and faithless words of the ter-and all the other affrights. But they had also seen the grapes of Goshen, the fruitful fields, the pleasant valleys, and all the prospects of prosperity. Also they had carried with them the sin of God. They thought more about his greatness than about their own weakness. "Let us go up and possess it," for we are able to overcome it." That is the way to talk. Such was the spirit of our fathers, who overcame the obstacles of the western wilderness. One

THE ACTIVITY OF ASPIRERS

Terms Comments on the Uniform Prayer Meeting Topic of the Young People's Societies, October 19. "How to Make This Year the Best Year in Our Society's History." Phil. 3:7-15.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

What the supreme courts of the church say is less important than what the young people of the church are thinking and doing.

Ecclesiastical enactments will never transform society. But new purposes in the heart of youth may.

Wise statesmanship in religion would concentrate more and more upon the church's children and young people.

We can afford to ignore many of our present problems if only we may assure their solution by the next generation. It appears eminently reasonable that Christian leaders should focus more attention upon the work of the young people's societies and the Sunday schools.

Both politics and religion have a big stake in the training of the young. Let any single generation be early imbued with a dominant idea concerning citizenship as church membership and it will in time make over the whole order according to this thinking. At the present moment, efforts are afoot to quicken the activity of Christians and endeavor along lines of good citizenship. If a glowing, knightly grandeur of patriotism fires the heart of these young people throughout the land during this present winter, we may expect immediate results in the realm of good citizenship.

What the young people today are thinking, the men and women of to-morrow will be doing.

Apparently, we are to have a revival of the people's work. That is well. It may be brought thus for kingdom welfare than by a national "campaigned." This means more societies at 10-1 one in every church—and the vitalizing of those now in existence. It involves a seriously thought-out shift of definite work for no young people's organization can succeed while it is a mere talk society. Also it implies a definite campany, with church officers participating, for new members, the brightest and best young people of the community. And it needs, first and last, a clear compelling statement of objectives. The church must be able to give a reason for the faith that is in her concerning young people's work.

The school is not the only educational agency. Many young persons never really become aware of this world and its problems until they begin to study missions in the Christian Endeavor society.

A master motive is needed to make a mighty work.

No young people today escape the pressure of present problems. The burning questions of women's dress, and of the proportions of men's interests, which shall be devoted to sport, are near-at-hand instances.

How shall these possibilities be solved in a sane, normal fashion, by young people who are neither prize nor fanatics? Well, just as every hotel has a "master key" which will open all doors, so the Christian Endeavor society has a master idea which set-ties all questions: "Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, prom-

BRIDE GETS $2,000,000; HUSBAND $12,000,000

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 17.—It was learned that Henry Clay Frick, just after the marriage of his son, Childs

Frick, to Miss Florence S. Dixon of this city yesterday, handed the bride an envelope containing a check in her name for $2,000,000. It is understood that young Mr. Frick received securities valued at $12,000,000.

JUDGE PERRY UPHOLDS STATE TAX ASSESSMENTS

DENVER, Oct. 17.—Judge John A. Perry in the district court here today sustained the assessments levied by the state tax commission against the Denver Gas and Electric company and the Denver City Tramway company, which the city commissioners had endeavored to reduce. The court refused to pass upon the constitutionality of the law creating the state tax commission on the ground that the recall of decisions amendment to the state constitution prohibits district judges from declaring a statute unconstitutional.
